Write these sentences in reported speech

a) ‘I’m very tired,’ she said. ..............................................................................................

b) ‘I’ll see them soon,’ he said. ..........................................................................................

c) ‘I’m going to the cinema,’ he said. .............................................................................

d) ‘I see my children quite often,’ he said. ........................................................................

e) ‘I’m having a bath,’ she said. .....................................................................................

f) ‘I stayed in a hotel for a few weeks,’ she said. ...............................................................

g) ‘I must go home to make dinner,’ he said. .....................................................................

h) ‘I haven’t been waiting long,’ she said. .........................................................................

i) ‘I can’t speak any foreign languages,’ he said. .............................................................

j) ‘I spoke to Jane last week,’ he said. ...............................................................................

Write these sentences as reported questions using the words given

a) ‘When does the train leave?’ I asked ..............................................................................

b) ‘Why did you take my wallet?’ He wanted to know ....................................................

c) ‘Why are you leaving?’ He asked ................................................................................

d) ‘Why didn’t the police report the crime?’ The judge inquired ........................................

e) ‘What time does the plane land?’ We inquired ...........................................................

f) ‘Who do you want to talk to?’ She asked me ................................................................

Write these sentences as reported questions

a) ‘Do you like Robert De Niro?’ she asked. .....................................................................

b) ‘Are you enjoying yourself?’ he asked. .........................................................................

c) ‘Have you met Danny before?’ she asked. ....................................................................

d) ‘Did you borrow my dictionary?’ he asked. ...................................................................

e) ‘May I come in?’ she asked. ..........................................................................................

f) ‘Had he hurt anybody?’ she asked. .............................................................................

g) ‘Have you been drinking?’ she asked. ........................................................................

h) ‘Were you sleeping?’ he asked. ...................................................................................

i) ‘Would you move your car, please?’ he asked. ..............................................................

j) ‘Could I know why you have decided to move?’ he asked. ...........................................
Write these sentences in reported speech

a) ‘I’ll see you tomorrow,’ she said. .................................................................
b) ‘I saw her today,’ he said. ........................................................................
c) ‘I don’t like this film,’ she said. .................................................................
d) ‘I met Susan about three months ago,’ he said. ........................................
e) ‘Pete and Amy are getting married tomorrow,’ he said. .........................
f) ‘Stephen’s bringing some records to the party tonight,’ he said. ..............
g) ‘I can see you tomorrow,’ she said. ..........................................................
h) ‘I had told them about the murder,’ he said. ............................................
i) ‘I’ve been studying all day,’ he said. ..........................................................
j) ‘You must realize this will become a problem in the future,’ he said.
..................................................................................................................

Reported speech: use the verbs in the box

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>advised</th>
<th>apologized</th>
<th>congratulated</th>
<th>invited</th>
<th>offered</th>
<th>promised</th>
<th>refused</th>
<th>suggested</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

a) ‘I’ll definitely be at your house before 8.00, Sue,’ said Mike.
..................................................................................................................
b) ‘Would you like to come to the cinema, Jean?’ asked Chris.
..................................................................................................................
c) ‘I wouldn’t eat too much if I were you, Arthur,’ said Patsy.
..................................................................................................................
d) ‘How about going for a walk?’ said Nick.
..................................................................................................................
e) ‘I’m terribly sorry for breaking the window,’ said Carol.
..................................................................................................................
f) ‘Shall I do the washing-up?’ said Bill.
..................................................................................................................
g) ‘Well done, you’ve passed your driving test,’ said Tina’s mother.
..................................................................................................................
h) ‘No, I won’t open my mouth!’ said Pat.
.....................................................................................................................
Cleft and pseudo-cleft sentences: emphasize the underlined words

a) I need a break.

b) Mary kept a pig in the garden.

c) Mary kept a pig in the garden.

d) Mary kept a pig in the garden.

e) I want some potatoes.

f) I’m here to discuss this problem.

g) We are going to Brasil.

h) Francine went to London on Tuesday.

i) She went to London to see Colin.

j) He writes science fiction.

k) I’ll call him and ask for his advice.

Emphasize the different parts of the following sentence:

My secretary sent the bill to Mr Harding yesterday

a) ..........................................................................................................................

b) ..........................................................................................................................

c) ..........................................................................................................................

d) ..........................................................................................................................

e) ..........................................................................................................................